WE INVITE YOU TO RELISH THE EXPERIENCE OF EXPLORING THE COUNTRY'S ANCIENT RELICS AND ARCHITECTURAL RUINS RISING OVER TEEMING CITIES, STREETS AND ROADS.

“Humayun’s Tomb, Delhi”

The Humayun's Tomb is a UNESCO World Heritage Site in Delhi Built for Mughal Emperor Humayun in the year 1570, it is the first grand dynastic garden mausoleum of the subcontinent. The tomb was constructed on the banks of the Yamuna river near the Nizamuddin Dargah. Spread across an area of 30 acres, it offers a panoramic view of the majestic Char Bagh - a Persian style garden with pools connected to intersecting water channel pathways. The unique octagonal shape of the monument makes it one of the finest examples of Mughal architecture.

“Hampi, Karnataka”

A legendary lost city that was once the powerhouse of an ancient kingdom and an auspicious temple town standing on the banks of the mighty Tungabhadra river, history and mythology come to life in Hampi, Karnataka. A queen's bath, a spectacular Lotus Palace, a royal stable or a temple, which is said to have been the place where the wedding of Lord Shiva and Goddess Parvati took place, this UNESCO World Heritage site reveals a facet of history at every turn.

Albeit in ruins, the magnificent structures here stand in testimony to Hampi's rich past under the powerful Vijayanagara empire (1336 - 1646 AD).

Hampi finds mention in the Hindu epic Ramayana as well. It is said to be the location of the monkey kingdom, Kishkindha. No wonder then that Hampi has ranked second in the must-visit destination list for the year 2019 by the New York Times! The grandiose site of Hampi was the last capital of the Vijayanagara kingdom, one of the most significant in southern India.

It's rich kings built exquisite temples and palaces, which won the admiration of travellers between the 14th and 16th centuries. Though plundered later, Hampi still retains more than 1,600 monuments, including palaces, forts, memorial structures, temples, shrines, pillared halls, baths and gateways. The architectural ruins are set against a surreal landscape dotted with heaps of giant boulders perched precariously over kilometres of undulating terrain, attracting rock-climbers, trekkers and other adventure sport enthusiasts. The rusty hues of these rocks are offset by jade-green palm groves, banana plantations and paddy fields. Today, this laid-back city is a tourists' hub, flocked by devotees, adventure-lovers and thrill-seekers.

“Mehrangarh Fort, Rajasthan”

A renowned landmark of Jodhpur, Mehrangarh Fort is one of the largest forts in the city. An ideal vantage point for the panoramic view of Jodhpur, one can trek to the top to see the city spread like a blue ocean at the foot of a hill. The fort is a magnum opus known for its exquisite latticed windows, carved panels, intricately decorated windows and walls of the Moti Mahal, Phool Mahal and Sheesh Mahal that sit pretty within the vast, sprawling complex of the fort.

Head next to the Elephant Howdah gallery on the southern side of Shringar Chowk, which displays the elephant seats used by the royals of Jodhpur. The most striking of these is the silver howdah presented to Maharaja Jaswant Singh I (1629-1678), the ruler of Marwar, by Mughal emperor Shah Jahan, as a symbol of honour.

You can then proceed to the palanquin gallery, displaying the primary means of transport of royal ladies; the Daulat Khana, literally translating to wealth store, where the royal treasury was kept; the painting gallery, showcasing a marvellous collection of miniature paintings of the Marwar School; cloth gallery, where the plush carpets, rich brocades and heavy velvets of the royals of Jodhpur have been preserved; the Sileh Khana, which was the royal armoury; and galleries where exquisite wooden crafts, cradles and turbans of the princely families can be viewed.

There are seven gates that need to be crossed in order to reach the fort. The gates still bear the marks of the battles fought in the past.

“Ranthambhore National Park, Sawai Madhopur, Rajasthan”

The popular Ranthambhore National Park and Tiger Reserve was once the private game reserve of the royal family of Jaipur. Located 155 km from Jaipur, Ranthambhore's diverse topography with a mix of rolling hills and crags, meadows, lakes and rivulets, offers some of the finest opportunities for sighting the magnificent tiger in the wild. Apart from the tiger, other wildlife in the park includes sloth bear, leopard, jackal, fox, hyena, Indian wolf, chital, sambar deer, blue bull antelope or nilgai, rhesus macaque, langur and an incredible variety of birds. The 10th century Ranthambhore fort dominates the landscape of this dry-deciduous forest.

The Bakula region is among the thickly forested areas of the sanctuary that has various waterholes and pools. Thus, an abundance of wildlife can be found here.

“Gir National Park, Sasan Gir, Gujarat”

Deep in the dry jungles of Gujarat, this realm of the majestic Asiatic lions is a perfect place for a thrilling safari. Book a forest accommodation, and all you need is an expert guide & some good luck, to catch the mighty lions in action. Other inhabitants here include leopards, hyena, deer, honey-badger, and many more.

This forested, hilly, 1412-sq-km sanctuary about halfway between Veraval and Junagadh is the last refuge of the Asiatic lion (Panthera leopersica). The sanctuary was set up in 1965 and a 259-sq-km core area was declared as a national park in 1975. Since the late 1960s, lion numbers have increased from less than 200 to 674 (Census 2020). Taking a safari through the thick, undisturbed forests is pure bliss, even without the added excitement of spotting lions, other wildlife and myriad bird species.

Twelve kilometers west of Sasan Gir village at Devalia, within the sanctuary precincts, is the Gir Interpretation Zone, better known as simply Devalia. The 4.12-sq-km fenced-off compound is home to a cross-section of Gir wildlife. Chances of seeing lions and leopards here are guaranteed, with 45- minute bus tours departing along the trails hourly.

“Periyar Tiger Reserve, Kerala”

Periyar is a kingdom of wilderness. The reserve has majestic tigers roaming its grounds among the greens. Consider yourself lucky if you can catch sight of one relaxing and lazing about. The tigers with their grandeur and physique will leave you awestruck. Periyar is one of the 27 tiger reserves in India. It is also the oldest wildlife sanctuary in Kerala, along with being renowned for having the largest protected area. The tiger reserve spans 192,001 acre of land and is blessed with a picturesque landscape home to various flora and fauna. The sanctuary also has boating facilities at its scenic lake. Travellers can see herds of elephants and grazing deer here with the sweet sound of birds chirping in the trees. The sanctuary is about 110 km away from Munnar.

It is home to as many as 1,965 species of flowering plants; this includes 171 grass species and 143 orchid species. The Podocarpus wallichianus, one of the only South Indian conifers, also grows here. As for mammals, there are more than 60 species found, including leopard, sambar deer, Indian bison, Indian wild dog, Asian elephant, and barking deer. You can also spot the smooth-coated otter if you take a boat ride in Periyar Lake. The endangered long-tailed macaque, bonnet macaque, and Nilgiri langur can be seen playing amongst the trees. The forest has 265 species of birds, some of which are the Malabar grey hornbill, Indian pied hornbill, white-bellied treepie, Malabar Trogon and more.

“Khangchendzonga National Park, Sikkim”

Khangchendzonga National Park encompasses an area covering 1784 sq km. It is bounded in the north by the Tent Peak and the ridge of the Zemu glacier. The eastern boundary of this park comprises the ridge of the Mountain Lamaongden. The southern boundary includes Mount Narsing and Mount Pandim. The western boundary comprises the mighty Kanchendzonga which presides over its namesake park and the Nepal Peak. Being bounded by such formidable features, it is no wonder that the park has remained ecologically untouched and therefore has provided a natural protection to the flora and fauna it shelters. The fauna includes the Snow leopard, Himalayan Black Bear, Red Panda, Barking deer and many other species. The Park is surrounded by a biosphere which combines nature conservation with scientific research, environmental training, environmental education monitoring and demonstration.

KHANGCHENDZONGA NATIONAL PARK IS UNIQUE BECAUSE IT IS INDIA'S FIRST UNESCO MIXED WORLD HERITAGE SITE, RECOGNIZED FOR BOTH ITS NATURAL BEAUTY AND CULTURAL HERITAGE. THE PARK HOLDS GREAT SPIRITUAL IMPORTANCE FOR THE INDIGENOUS LEPCHA PEOPLE AND LOCAL BUDDHIST COMMUNITIES, WHO REGARD MOUNT KHANGCHENDZONGA AND THE SURROUNDING LANDSCAPE AS SACRED.

“Kerala”

This tropical state aptly called the Land of Ayurveda, is home to Ayurveda roots since times immemorial. Its tropical climate fit for growing medicinal plants, qualified practitioners, and serene ambiance promise you a perfect setting for regaining harmony of body, mind & soul. Relax your body with various detoxification therapies, aroma massages, and yoga practices at the many wellness resorts in Kerala. Set amid the emerald backwaters, lush plantations, and misty hills, these lavish resorts help you unwind in a luxurious ambiance.

Commonly referred to as the science of life, the practice of Ayurveda is as old as time itself. It is believed that Ayurveda, which originated in India, was passed down from the gods to the sages. Brahma, who is one-third of the Trinity is believed to have formulated this ancient science. Based on traditional Hindu medicine systems, the idea behind it is to procure a balance in the body systems through yogic breathing, herbal treatments and diets.

The top institute for Ayurveda is located in capital city Delhi. The All India Institute of Ayurveda carries out research and tries to blend modern practices with this branch of ancient wisdom to enhance the benefits.

For Ayurvedic treatments of ailments, one can head to the Ayurvedagram Heritage Wellness Centre spread over a generous seven acre. Around 21 km from the city lies the international headquarters of The Art of Living - the Bangalore Ashram.

In the picturesque hill station of Dehradun in Uttarakhand lies Vana, a wellness retreat that promises to heal with a combination of Ayurveda, Tibetan healing (Sowa Rigpa), yoga and natural therapies along with modern-day spa, fitness and aqua techniques.

Igatpuri, 45 km from Nashik, is home to the Vipassana International Academy, which teaches meditation for self-purification. In Goa lies Devayaa, The Ayurveda and Nature Cure Center, which offers solutions inspired by Ayurveda and Naturopathy for emotional and mental healing.

Located in the attractive Chamundi Hills, in Mysuru, is the Indus Valley Ayurvedic Centre that offers detox treatments, massages and weight-loss and beauty packages for complete rejuvenation of mind and body. One can also undertake courses in Ayurvedic treatments and cooking here.

“Uttarkhand”

With its deep-rooted history of Ayurveda, Yoga and meditation, Uttarakhand has risen to fame as a world-known wellness retreat in recent years. Its little town of Rishikesh, set at the Himalayan foothills, on the banks of the holy Ganges, is home to a range of Ayurveda spas and yoga centers. From simple ashrams to five-star luxury resorts offering an array of therapies, Rishikesh is rightly nicknamed the Yoga Capital of the World. Go for some Ayurveda therapies to let go of the stress, take aroma massages, and indulge in yoga on the banks of the Ganges- the experience is rejuvenating!

Over 5,000 years old, the practice of yoga, renowned all over the world, has been benefitting mankind for generations and also finds mention in the Indian epic, Rig Veda. A synchronised art of movement, breathing and meditation, yoga helps expand awareness, improve balance, increase intellect, lowers anxiety and helps manage weight and overall good mental, physical and emotional health. The word 'yoga' means to unite and symbolises the union of body and consciousness.

There are a variety of yoga styles taught and practiced in India. The most popular is the Vinyasa yoga, which is a series of fluid motions, almost like a dance, done in accord with breathing techniques. It is generally done in a dark room or with eyes closed. The Ashtanga yoga or the traditional yoga synchronises movement and breathing and is usually performed without oral instruction and music.

To get a feel of more challenging postures, the Iyengar yoga is your best bet. Taught at a slower pace, this style of yoga involves the use of props like straps, blankets and blocks. For beginners, Hatha yoga is preferred as it is an umbrella term for all physical yoga practices. Kripalu yoga is a technique to explore spirituality, with a focus on meditation, self-realisation, relaxation and pranayama. Set against the backdrop of stunning mountains in the holy town of Rishikesh, in Uttarakhand, Parmarth Niketan is an ideal spot for a wellness vacation. From offering accommodation to visitors and yoga classes to beginners to boasting a rich Vedic heritage and teacher training courses, the ashram provides a sublime spiritual experience. It also plays host to the famous International Yoga Festival, a week-long event held annually in March. The Ganga arti performed every evening is a unique experience that should not be missed. Tourists can also visit the award-winning spa resort Ananda that integrates Ayurveda, yoga and Vedanta to create unique wellness experiences.

“Golden Temple, Amritsar Punjab”

The Golden Temple (Harmandir Sahib) in Amritsar is the holiest shrine of Sikhism and one of India's most iconic spiritual landmarks. Renowned for its magnificent golden dome, serene sacred pool, and welcoming atmosphere, the temple attracts millions of pilgrims and visitors from around the world each year. The shrine symbolizes equality, humility, and selfless service, values that are central to Sikh philosophy.

Highlights;

Stunning gold-covered architecture reflected in the sacred Amrit Sarovar (Pool of Nectar).

Spiritual prayers and devotional music (Gurbani Kirtan) throughout the day.

The world's largest free community kitchen (Langar), serving thousands of visitors daily.

Open to people of all religions, cultures, and nationalities. Beautiful illumination during the evening hours.

Rich history and significance in Sikh heritage and culture.

Best Time to Visit;

October to March: Pleasant weather for sightseeing and spiritual visits. November: Celebrations around Guru Nanak Gurpurab create a special atmosphere.

Early Morning: Peaceful surroundings and beautiful sunrise views. Evening: The illuminated temple reflected in the water offers a breathtaking sight.

Why Visit;

the Golden Temple provides a unique opportunity to experience India's spiritual diversity, architectural beauty, and traditions of hospitality. Whether you seek cultural understanding, religious heritage, or a peaceful retreat, a visit to this sacred shrine is an unforgettable experience.

“Fairs & Festivals”

India's vibrant character and a diverse ethnicity are revealed in its colourful fairs and festivals celebrated all over the country. Dyed in vivacious hues, and pulsating with energy, these celebrations give you a taste of Indian religion and culture. Religious rituals, tribal culture, tourism festivals, and thousands of years of beliefs; Indians leave no chance to celebrate their illustrious legacy. Often called the intangible heritage of India, these endearing celebrations with glittering fireworks, colourful jamboree, dance & music, and mouth watering delicacies are a rocking experience, here are some of the festivities you must add to your travel itinerary. Vibrant, vivid and versatile, these fairs and festivals are certainly one-of-a-kind experiences.

“Holi – The Festival Of Colors”

Held mostly in northern India, in March, Holi is celebrated by throwing colors on each other. Rooted in mythology and playful chronicles of Radha-Krishna, this colorful festival celebrates love, life, and the arrival of spring. Holi celebrations in Mathura Vrindavan and the Lathmaar Holi of Barsana are too colorful to be missed.

“Diwali - The Festival Of Lights”

This festival of lights, celebrated in October or November, symbolizes the triumph of good over evil. On Diwali, people light earthen lamps, candles, and pretty fairy lights to light up a dark moonless night. Celebrated widely across the country, Diwali traditions include the exchange of gifts, traditional sweetmeats, card parties, and fireworks.

“Pushkar Fair, Pushkar, Rajasthan”

This vivid cattle fair flaunts the rich & vibrant traditions of Rajasthan. Check out the colorfully adorned camels that participate in jocular competitions like camel beauty pageants, and rejoice in the unique festivities at Pushkar fairground. The vibrant fair is celebrated in October / November and runs about for a week.

“International Yoga festival, Rishikesh, Uttarakhand”

Feed the soul seeker in you at this week-long Yoga festival by the Ganges in Rishikesh. Join us at this little town at the Himalayan foothills and indulge in the wellness of yoga on the banks of the holy river Ganges.

“Kumbha Mela”

Recognized as the Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity by UNESCO, Kumbh Mela is deeply rooted in Hindu mythology. Celebrated once every 12 years in four river-bank pilgrimages in Prayagraj, Nashik, Haridwar, and Ujjain, Kumbha Mela is the largest gathering of human beings on the planet. Holy baths, religious discourses, and feasts & festivities are a part of the celebrations. The dates of Kumbh Mela may vary based on the lunar calendar.

“Durga Puja, Kolkata, West Bengal”

Age-old rituals, joined with boisterous revelry and mouthwatering cuisines are the highlights of Durga Puja, that celebrates the many forms of the Goddess. Check out the magnificent pandals (gatherings), savor delicious food, and mingle with the festive crowds during Durga Puja celebrations. The festival is celebrated in September or October.

“Rann Utsav, Kutch, Gujarat”

Rann Utsav is a celebration of the white desert and is the longest celebrated festival in India. It starts in November and continues till February, each year. This colorful extravaganza celebrates the culture, crafts, and cuisines of Gujarat. Stay in the white tent city, go for camel safaris, and soak in the festivities at the largest salt desert in the world.

“India Art Fair, New Delhi”

India Art Fair is a leading platform to discover modern and contemporary art from South Asia. This is an annual event that takes place in the months of January or February that brings a large collection of contemporary art practices to the fore.

“Serendipity Arts Festival, Goa”

From its launch in 2016, the Serendipity Arts Festival in Goa has evolved into one of the largest annual interdisciplinary cultural extravaganzas in South Asia. The event is a celebration of the richness and diversity of culture and creativity, showcasing a variety of contemporary and traditional art forms — dance, music, theatre, arts and crafts.

“Jaipur Literature Festival, Rajasthan”

The festival features panel discussions on a wide range of topics such as literature, culture, politics, and society with participation from authors, poets and thinker from around the world. It is a congregation of a diverse mix of the world's greatest writers, thinkers, humanitarians, politicians, business leaders, sports people and entertainers on one stage to champion the freedom to express and engage in thoughtful debate and dialogue.

“Kochi - Muziris Biennale, Kerala”

The Kochi-Muziris Biennale is an international exhibition of contemporary art being held in Kochi, Kerala every two years. It is India's first biennial of international contemporary art and its story is unique to India's current reality—its political, social and artistic landscape.

“Nagaur Cattle Fair, Rajasthan”

The fair is marked by traditional music and dance performances as well as cultural activities and sports such as camel and horse races, acrobatics, turban tying competitions, and cultural contests. The fair is known for its storytellers, jugglers, puppeteers, etc. It is held at Jodhpur every year during January-February and continues for eight days.

“Modhera Dance Festival, Gujarat”

This festival of dance known as Uttarardh Mahotsav, derives its name from the planetary and astronomical configuration of the Sun. The festival which takes place every year after Uttarayan, at the Modhera temple dedicated to the Sun God venerates the rotational cycle of the earth around the Sun. It is a three-day celebration of art, music, dance, and culture.
